

Have a fine old time at Faraday

So for once I'm going to keep this short and sweet. Possibly as short as my time spent at the lovely Faraday, my current top pick when it comes to a cracking cup of coffee, in a spot as cosy as cashmere.

Nestled on Calle San Marcos in the perennially popular Chueca, I first suggested it to a pal for a quick post-work drink a few Friday's ago. Quick disclaimer – they do not bear booze. So if you're after vino, cañas and the like, just walk on by. But if you're after coffee with a kick, served in surroundings that make you forget that you were craving a G&T, then this may well be the place for you.

It's worth me noting that it's hipster heaven. There's luxe leather chairs aplenty and vinyls (to be purchased) galore. Faraday's USP in a city heaving with coffee competitors is that it's a coffee shop slash mini-concept store. Aside from the vinyls there were other vignettes to be snapped up post flat white.

Whilst I was there to chew the fat with my mate, there was no shortage of folk taping away on their Macs, making it a desirable locale for a digital nomad. The eclectic tunes being pumped out also made it fiesta friendly but not deafeningly so.

Although I eventually left to sink my well-earned G&T at a neighbouring waterhole on the nearby Calle Belen, Faraday proves that sometime's there's some fun to be had in abstaining.
