Adelita Market, great secondhand clothing market in Malasaña

Adelita Market is a monthly flea market that usually takes place at a cultural center in Malasaña called Espiritu 23 (named after its address, c/ Espiritu Santo 23). Although this time it will be held outside in Plaza de Dos del Mayo.

The market mostly offers clothes, jewellery and accessories, although I've landed on other treasures too. It's a great Saturday plan, as it's free and in Malasaña, meaning you can grab a beer at any nearby cafe or bar right after your browsing session.

I particularly love this flea market as I always find great items and even got my own stand there once (here's a full article on Adelita Market).
